Successful Trial-trip of the Winans' Steamer.

The iron steamer, built by Mosers, Winans' the last novelty affoat since the Levisthan) perintendence of Prof. J. H. Moore, a public went upon a trial-trip from the yard of the meeting of the citizens present was organ- builders at the Ferry Sar, to the North Point Light House and back. About 91 o'clock steam was began to be raised, and at near 11 o'cleck ing Rev. T. Gordon to the chair, and appoint the steamer turned gazefull from her moorings and was headed down the Patapsco. With a pressure of 55 pounds of steam (half her capacity)a satisfactory headway was made. The points of the bow and stern barely touched the water, and the even progress of the vessel caused no commotion of the waves, but left a smooth wake like a groove. The steamer passed Fort Carroll until off North Point, when she was put about. On the return, and when opposite Fort McHenry the steamer was greeed with a salute of six guns from the fort, and in recognition of the compliment the steamer's flags were displyed and the steam whistle
